75 GIRLS IN PANIC WITH 100 MEN AT BROADWAY BLAZE

Benzine Explosions Add to Peril During Flight by Stairs and Fire Escapes From Tailoring Factory on Fire.

A force of seventy-five girls and one hundred men employed by the Harris Raincoat Company on the three upper floors of the five-story factory building at No. 827 Broadway fled pell mell to the street, down the stairways and fire escapes this afternoon, when a small fire started on the third floor.

At no time was the blaze dangerous, but it produced an odor and a volume of smoke that emptied the building in short order. No one suffered injury.

In the process of making coats waterproof considerable benzine and other material of an explosive nature is used. The fire was caused by a light coming in contact with benzine fumes on the rear of the third floor. This was followed by several small explosions, and the flames ran rapidly over piles of goods in process of preparation.

There was a cry of fire and with few exceptions everybody on the three upper floors of the building started for safety. A jam of girls formed on the stairway leading from the second to the first floor, but some quick-witted men from the factory pulled the girls out like wood from a log jam and relieved the pressure.

Smothered Blazing Benzine. Jacob Scherman, of No. 230 East Fifth street, one of the employees of the firm, working on the third floor, kept his wits about him and did much to save the building and plant. Instead of running, he called five other men to his assistance and began to pile cloth and rubber upon the blazing benzine.

For a short time the work was fruitless. Scherman's five companions found themselves cut off from escape by way of the door to the hall or the rear fire-escape. They ran to the front windows and perched on the wide ledges, looking down into Broadway and shouting for help.

In the mean time Policeman Heffernan, of the Traffic Squad, had turned in an alarm. There are plenty of engines within a few blocks of the scene of the fire, which is between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets, and the work of quenching the blaze was soon over.

A line of hose burst directly under the nose of a team of horses attached to the tender of Engine No. 14. The horses ran away up Broadway, but were stopped at Thirteenth street by alert Policeman Heffernan.

The tender upset just as Heffernan stopped the horses. It was unoccupied and escaped damage.

Broadway street-car traffic was blocked for thirty-five minutes.

RUIZ DIVORCE FOLLOWS THAT OF MRS. VANDERBILT

Decree for Husband of Woman Connected With A. G. Vanderbilt Case.

NOT MENTIONED IN SUIT

Ruiz in His Complaint Referred to "An Unknown Person" as Co-respondent.

Following closely upon the decree of divorce granted to Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt in this city, Justice Arthur S. Tompkins, of Nyack, to-day signed a similar decree in the Supreme Court at White Plains to Antonio A. Ruiz. There is a connection between the two cases because the defendant in the Ruiz case, Mary Agnes Ruiz, figured prominently in the Vanderbilt scandal last winter and spring under the name of Mme. Ruiz.

The papers in the Ruiz case were ordered sealed by the Court, and are locked away in the safe of the Clerk of Westchester County. Testimony was taken by Referee George A. Wyre, of Nyack, and upon his report the decree was granted.

So far as can be learned, Mr. Ruiz mentioned no names of men in his suit. The co-respondent is said to have been designated as "an unknown person." Mrs. Ruiz, in person and by counsel, made formal answer to the complaint at White Plains early in the summer and also put in a defense, but she made no determined effort to combat the proceedings in the way of filing a cross bill.

Mme. Ruiz lived in a luxuriously appointed flat at Fifty-second street and Lexington avenue. A man named Brencley eloped to Europe with the wife of a millionaire, and one of the developments of the case was that Brencley had bought a $10,000 automobile for Mrs. Ruiz, acting as Alfred G. Vanderbilt's agent, and that Mr. Vanderbilt paid for the machine with his personal check.

Soon after this Mrs. Vanderbilt left her husband and instituted divorce proceedings in this country. At about the same time Mr. Ruiz, who has sugar interests in Cuba, brought suit in White Plains. The Vanderbilt suit was settled a little more expeditiously.

AQUEDUCT RACE TRACK, Sept.

29.—Ben Ban won his first race of the ### year in the $1000 Woodmere Stakes

here this afternoon. McCarthy rode ### him well and never lost an inch. He ### got the rail at the turn for home and ### breezed through the long stretch with ### everything driving behind him. Whip

Top and Stargowan had a hard drive

of it through the stretch and Whip

Top proved the gamer, getting the ### place money by half a length from ### Stargowan. Beaupou had a flash of ### early speed and then died away to ### last.

The opening event was very much of a ### puzzle, the talent being equally divided

on Footpad and Uncle Jim. Obdurate

was well fancied, too, while Bird of ### Flight II. didn't get the attention his ### previous good races merited. Bird of ### Flight won after being in an early tan### gle and away badly. When they struck ### the stretch he was next to last, but ### here he began to run.

He closed ground rapidly in the cuppy

going, and right in the last ten yards,

when Obdurate and Uncle Jim were ### fighting it out, Cullen brought Bird of ### Flight up with one last big effort, and ### he won by a head. Queen Marguerite

did not run as well as she had in the ### good with Uncle Jim. Footpad evi### dently didn't like the going, stopping

very badly after showing some early ### speed.

Sanguine Won Second Race.

Sanguine and Transvaal went out in ### front in the second and it looked like a ### two-horse race until Transvaal ran out ### at the turn for home. This lost him

whatever chance he had and Sanguine ### hugely the rail, stood a long drive to ### the way home, just lasting long enough ### to beat Saracinesca, which closed very ### fast in the stretch. Queen Marguerite

did not run to expectations, but man### aged to be third. Director didn't like ### the going.

Live Wire Wins Again.

Live Wire was sent right back after ### his hard race of yesterday and he made ### good. His race was much better than ### the one he had in the first race. He ### outfought Fort Johnson and then came away

winning by a head. He got the rail com### ing into the stretch and outfought Fort

Johnson for the place. Saylor wouldn't ### run at all for some reason.

Gilbert on Winner.

Gilbert put over a winner in George W.

Lebolt in the fifth. He led prac### tically all the way and won handily.

Dan De Noyles went with him most of ### the way, finishing out good and game ### for the second money. Eschan was an
